

Management of Risk and Uncertainty (MoRU)

It has never been more important to be able to identify, understand and manage risk and opportunity sensibly: such core business skills are vital for effective leadership and are critical to running a business. Risk management is a key element in Corporate Governance and organisations need to understand the risks and uncertainty it faces, and put in place an effective risk management system.

"Overall a superb course "

About Envex

Envex has provided training and consultancy in risk management for over 15 years and our staff took a lead role in developing and designing MoRU. Envex is one of the leading course providers in the UK and provides risk courses to all market sectors in the UK and internationally. Courses are run at Envex or in locations near Reading.

Many clients find that running the course in-house is more cost effective when a number of managers require training. Case studies and practical examples can be tailored to reflect your business sector environment, and company information included.

For further information or to book a course, please contact Cathi Foale on (+44)(0)118 9773030 or email cathi@envexconsultants.co.uk

Why is training important?

Risk management is not a discipline which is left to one individual or function; it must be embedded into the normal business processes you have in place. An essential element to achieving this is to have appropriately trained staff, something which the Combined Code makes clear.

Tell me about the course

Certified and accredited by the Institute of Risk Management (IRM), the 2-day Management of Risk and Uncertainty course (MoRU), provides a broad introduction to the subject of risk management.

The course explores both the positive and negative aspects of risk and aims to improve knowledge and practical skills in the identification assessment and control of business.

The programme is designed for use across all business sectors and is equally relevant to those working in private and commercial companies, the public and voluntary sector, health authorities and central government departments and agencies.

What does the course cover?

Delivered in modules with case studies to support:-

- Introduction to Risk Management
- Risk Assessment, Analysis & Evaluation
- Risk Perception & Communication
- Risk Treatment - Risk Control
- Business Continuity Planning- an overview
- Risk Treatment - Risk Financing
- Corporate Governance, Reporting, Monitoring, Embedding

At the end of the course delegates are invited to take a short assessment paper, and on successful completion will result in the award of a certificate from the IRM.

Who should attend?

- Directors & Senior Managers with responsibility for implementing systems of corporate governance and internal control
- Professionals who find their role expanding to include the wider remit of enterprise risk management
- Personnel new to the profession of risk management.
